Objective

I am currently btech 3rd year CSE student, I am proficient in Java as language, moreover I also have little experience in front end development, I have a Google certification in UX design as well. Till now I have done two working internships one on content writing and the other on web development. Besides content writing I also managed Search engine optimization during my content writing internship. Other languages I have some knowledge of are python, C and javascript. I have a training certification on full stack development from IIT kanpur. I am looking for an internship through which I can get more hands on experience of corporate work.
